

THE home of Mr and Mrs John Gibson of Hamilton road, Thornburg, last night was the scene of a wedding of exquisite appointments when their daughter, Miss Elizabeth West Gibson, became the bride of Albert Burchfield Craig, a chief yeoman in the United States Naval Reserves, stationed at Newport, R I, and son of Mr and Mrs George Liggett Craig of Sewickley. Cibotium ferns against a United States flag, with smaller flags placed at each side amid the ferns, formed the background for the ceremony, which took place in the living room where a blazing log fire lent its hospitable cheer to the occasion. The service was read by Rev Dr John Knox McClurkin of the Shadyside United Presbyterian Church, the guests being relatives and a few close friends.

The bride wore white satin embroidered in pearls, with court train of satin. Her tulle veil was held with a cap of Duchesse lace and she carried lilies of the valley centered and showered with sweetheart roses. Her only ornament was the groom's gift, a bar pin of diamonds and platinum. Miss Ruth M Gibson, her sister's maid of honor, wore a frock of rose and yellow net over yellow taffeta, and carried Ophelia roses showered with yellow daisies. Miss Sarah McWhinney Craig, the bridegroom's sister, wore pink net combined with chiffon, over pink taffeta. She carried Ophelia roses and yellow marguerites. Ruth Gibson Brittain, the daughter of Mr and Mrs Howard E Brittain of Toledo, Ohio, had a lingerie frock with pink ribbons and carried a basket filled with sweetheart roses.

Joseph Staunton Craig served as his brother's best man, and the ushers were Robert D Gibson and George Liggett Craig, Jr, who came on from Princeton University for the wedding, the men being brothers respectively of bride and groom. At the reception following the ceremony, the parents of bride and groom received with them, Mrs Gibson wearing black net over satin, with corsage of Cattleya orchids, and Mrs Craig in black net over king's blue satin, with corsage of orchids.

The bridal table had a center of radiance roses and jonquils showered with pink maline, and from the chandelier hung a cloud of pink hyacinths and asparagus fern. At the bridal table, in addition to the bridal party, were Miss Mary Frances Stewart of Cleveland, a guest at the Gibson home; Carol Mitchell of White Plains, N Y, Mr and Mrs C W Baker of Coraopolis Heights, George Morgan of Shields, George Craig of New Castle, and Robert J Agnew of Beaver. The windows had Southern smilax and all mantels were banked with maiden-hair fern and crotons.

Mr and Mrs Craig will reside at Newport.
